Nature and Purpose of the Course

Course Outcomes

Upon completion of this course, students are expected to be able to:

1. Pursue a career as an auditor with a public accounting firm
2. Complete the auditing portion of the CPA examination
3. Understand of the role of professional accounting

The focus of this course is on auditing the financial statements of publicly and privately held companies. Companies engage a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) to express an opinion as to whether management has presented its financial statements fairly, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

You should have successfully completed ACCT 3021 (Intermediate Accounting Part II) and ACCT 3122 (Accounting Information Systems) before enrolling in this course. This background is required because you must have a working knowledge of accounting principles to know whether management has applied them properly.

Working with the Course Materials

Remember, this course covers an entire semester of work or the equivalent of a classroom course lasting 15 weeks. That means that each module in this course equals just over one week of course work and will require the same time and effort on your part. Do not expect to complete each module in a single study session.

Each module contains information, activities, and assignments organized under a consistent series of headings. Get familiar with how the module is organized. The modules in this course are organized into the following:

Moodle sections: Introduction, Learning Objectives, PowerPoint Review and Self Check.

McGraw-Hill CONNECT: Video Lectures, SmartBook Assignment, Homework Assignment

You should work through these parts of each module in order. Completing the following sequence is strongly encouraged for each module.

1. Review the Module Material Introduction, Learning Objectives and PowerPoint presentation (Moodle).
2. Complete the SmartBook reading Assignment and review the lecture videos as needed (McGraw-Hill Connect website).
3. Complete the chapter Self-Check (Moodle).
4. When you are ready, complete the Module Homework Assignment (McGraw-Hill Connect website).

Suggested Study Techniques

1. Carefully review the module objectives to help you focus on the information that will be covered on the exams.
2. Concentrate on the reading assignments and any additional resources provided. This review should include a detailed examination of any illustrative problems and examples. After an assignment has been completed, a rapid re-reading of the related text and other materials is strongly recommended.

3. Put yourself on a definite schedule. Set aside a certain block of hours per day or week for this course and work in a place where distractions are minimal.
4. Try to submit one assignment each week or at least every two weeks. Delays in submitting assignments usually result in lagging interest and the inability to complete the course.
5. Review your module assignments after they have been graded, paying special attention to any instructor feedback provided. We suggest that you wait for assignment feedback before you submit subsequent assignments.
6. Regardless of how you complete your graded assignments, keep in mind that module completion should not be your sole preparation for your exams. As with any college course, you should study for your exams.

Final ExaminationModule Assignments

Each module contains one homework assignment that is worth 10 points. Module homework assignments will be worked and submitted on the McGraw-Hill Connect website.

Once you submit an assignment, you cannot revise it, so be sure to check your work. Your instructor will transfer Smartbook, homework and exam scores to the Moodle gradebook.

Do not rely too heavily on your textbook or other resource material when preparing your assignments. If you do, you may not realize until exam time that the perfect response you prepared for an assignment was only possible because you referred to resource material without really learning or understanding the material and concepts. Therefore, you should attempt each assignment without referring to the resource material, and if you find it necessary to look up an answer, be sure you have actually learned the concept and material rather than merely reflecting it in the answer.

Academic Integrity

Students in Online Distance Learning (ODL) courses must comply with the LSU Code of Student Conduct. Suspected violations of the academic integrity policy may be referred to LSU Student Advocacy & Accountability (SAA), a unit of the Dean of Students. If found responsible of a violation, you will then be subject to whatever penalty SAA determines and will forfeit all course tuition and fees.

Plagiarism

Students are responsible for completing and submitting their own course work and preparing their own modules. All work submitted in the course modules must be the student's own work unless outside work is appropriate to the assignment; all outside material must be properly acknowledged. It is also unacceptable to copy directly from your textbook or to use published answer keys or the teacher's edition of a textbook.

Collaboration

Unauthorized collaboration constitutes plagiarism. Collaborative efforts that extend beyond the limits approved by the instructor are violations of the academic integrity policy. Students who study together are expected to prepare and write their own individual work for submission and grading.

Taking Your Examinations

You are required to create a Louisiana State University ODL ProctorU account and to take your exams through ProctorU, a remote proctoring service that allows you to take exams anywhere with internet access (some restrictions apply). Information on creating your ProctorU account is located in the "Getting Started module." You cannot use an account created through another university, so if you already have an account, you will still need to create an account associated with LSU ODL.

You should schedule your exams about a week before you are ready to take them in order to avoid any premium charges.

The ProctorU website provides links you can use to find out how ProctorU works and to check your computer to see that it meets the technical requirements. Remember that to test using ProctorU, you need access to a web cam, a microphone (built-in or external), headphones or working speakers, and reliable high speed internet to use this service.

After you have completed this course, your grade will be filed with the Office of the University Registrar. If a transcript is needed, it is your responsibility to make a request to the registrar.
